Excerpts from "Update on selected countries": Peru

In Peru, the media has reported clinics operating illegally with Cuban personnel and local authorities have raided several clinics in past years, yet, they continue to operate. As of January 2024, the institution "Clínica Médicos Cubanos" was operating. According to Google, it has three clinics in different locations in Lima.[1] The website prominently features signs that read "Cuban Medical Missions" and states that the clinics were opened by "a group of medical specialists from Cuba."[2]

Editor's note: In 2023, Peru received $192.8 million in US government assistance. (See foreignassistance.gov/cd/peru/)
